

Ensure accurate government reporting, pricing compliance, and risk reduction

Government pricing rules are complex, evolve frequently, and pose serious financial and reputational risks. The Model N regulatory compliance suite helps pharmaceutical manufacturers meet complex reporting requirements, adapt to evolving legislation like the Inflation Reduction Act (IRA), and avoid penalties capped at nearly $1.5 million¹ per year.

From accurate pricing to generating compliant reports, Model N delivers the insight and efficiency your team needs – on time, every time – so you can focus on achieving strategic growth rather than chasing down lost revenue.

With Model N, organizations gain proactive control over compliance processes and stay ahead of regulatory changes by leveraging automated updates and real-time analytics. Calculation errors Manual rebate and price calculations lead to discrepancies in average manufacturer price (AMP), best price (BP), and others.	Accurate calculations The flexible formula builder calculates prices using preconfigured or model price types, ensuring no errors.
Information silos Lack of visibility causes misalignment between commercial and government price management processes.	Centralized control One-stop platform configures data for accurate, reproducible, and auditable government pricing.
Missed deadlines Delays in gathering and validating data result in late Medicaid and Medicare submissions and fines.	Timely reporting Automated report generation ensures monthly and quarterly submissions meet every deadline.
Regulatory gaps Failure to keep up with government programs' changing requirements risks substantial non-compliance penalties.	Regulatory updates Medicaid and other government program guidance is applied via regulatory update packs, keeping all pricing and reporting rules current.
Operational burden Staff spend excessive time reconciling claims, tracking rule changes, and fixing reporting errors.	Risk reduction Built-in audit trails, reproducibility, and automated alerts ensure compliance, protecting brand equity and avoiding fines.
